BOXING.

Wheelingites may not see Oscar Gardner again until after his encounter on March 9 with Terry McGovern. He left last night for West Baden, Ind., accompanied by his brother Eddie, and his manager, P. H. Sullivan, of New York. They will remain at West Baden about two weeks, and then go to Lakewood, N. J., where Oscar will complete his training. In reply to a question, Oscar said he was not surprised at the result of the Santry-McGovern affair, and he won a hat on it. Santry, he said, is a tall, slim fellow, and good only at long range fighting. McGovern, added Oscar, fights very much on his own style, so it will be Greek against Greek when they meet.

An effort will be made to get up an excursion party to go to New York to witness the McGovern-Gardner fight, on March 9, and any person desirous of going is requested to leave his name with P. F. Murphy, at Winder & Parker's Parlor saloon, by mail or otherwise. Arrangements are under way with officials of the Pennsylvania railroad, regarding a special coach and low rates, and if a party of fifty can be secured, the rate to New York and return will be quite reasonable. With the interest in the fight being so great locally, that number should be obtained in this city.

The Metropolitan Club's next attraction will be the night of "Dewey Day," February 22, and it will bring together Sam Boen, of New York, and Louden Campbell, of Pittsburgh. They are matched at 125 pounds at 3 p. m., the day of the contest.

THE COLUMBUS TEAM.

Magnate Riley Receiving Scores of Applications From Players.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 4.—Says the State Journal this morning: The local base ball situation remains practically unchanged since the announcement of the purchase of the Inter-state league franchise by Mr. John Riley. During the week Mr. Riley has received scores of letters from well-known players, offering him their services, and it is very evident that Columbus is a popular town with the ball players. Valdois, of Cincinnati, the clever short-stop who saved Torreyson a bottle of wine by knocking the ball over the fence in the first game the Wanderers played here last summer, has been heard from and is now considering terms. Mr. Riley also has under consideration the applications of several well-known players from the Eastern and Atlantic leagues who are anxious to come west and play in the Inter-state league.

The consent of all the property owners in the vicinity of the Nell field, where the grounds have been located, has been secured, with one exception, and it is confidently believed that this one gentleman will oppose no real obstacle to the success of the new team.

Mr. Riley is meeting with hearty encouragement from the business men of the city in his earnest endeavor to give the Columbus base ball public a first-class article of the national game. He has already made arrangements for the laying out of the grounds and the erection of a comfortable and commodious grand stand and bleachers, work on which will begin within a month.

COMPLICATED PLAYS.

Problems Solved by Quick-Witted Men of the Big League.

George Davis' ability to solve a knotty problem was demonstrated by a hypothetical case put to him by Fred Hoey, then manager of the New Yorks, who in turn heard it from "Honest John" Kelley. The case was this: A is on second base. B on first base and C at the bat. C drives a liner towards left field which looks as if it was going safe. A starts for third and B for second. The opposing shortstop, however, gathers in the liner and almost simultaneously slaps the ball on A. But the shortstop drops the ball as he touches A, whereupon A continuing to third base—he picks it up, tosses it to the second baseman, who is on the bag, and the latter player tags B, who had run down from first. The question is, how many are out?

Unless one considers the play closely, he is likely to decide the point wrong. Davis decided that a triple play had taken place, and Kelley's decision was to the same effect. The ball having been held momentarily by the shortstop—an essential point which is apt to be overlooked—the batsman is out to start with. Thus a liner having been caught, it was necessary for A to get back to second before the ball. As the ball beat him to second when thrown there by the shortstop, A was out, whether the ball was dropped or not. Then B had no right to leave first base on a caught liner, and was out when the second baseman touched him.

One of the neatest plays ever seen on a ball field was worked by Pat Tebeau at the Polo grounds a season or so ago, and Jack Doyle was the victim. Tebeau hit an infield grounder which was fielded to Doyle at first. Doyle stepped forward to take the throw, which was short, and stood waiting to tag Patsy, instead of stepping on the base. Just as the wily Tebeau got within reach of Doyle he suddenly slipped down, and reached the base by a slide, with the surprised Doyle holding the ball in his hands. Whereat the laugh was on Doyle, and Patsy did not neglect to take advantage of the privilege.

Year before last Van Halten threw a batsman out at first on a centerfield hit. By Swain, the Washington pitcher, was the man retired in this unusual manner. His drive was a long one, too; but Van took it on the first bound and took advantage of Swain's slowness to head him off. Men have been thrown out at first on right field hits, but this was the first instance of being nipped after hitting to center, at least about New York.

Brush on the New League.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 4.—John T. Brush to-day said: "The plans of the association promoters will not work, and some of the men interested in it have evidently realized this fact. A new organization would create larger salaries for ball players, but they would not be of a lasting character. A new base ball association can be organized in a very short time. There are enough surplus players in the National League to equip it and if there is a demand for such an organization it will have the support of the National League. It will occupy National League territory and will play on the grounds of the National League, when the major organization clubs are away from home. As for the so-called American Association it will find the National League ready to meet it on every tack."

BASE BALL NOTES.

The Inter-State League is to meet at Cleveland, on February 9.

J. Bentley Seymour may desert the rubber for right field.

Pat Flaherty and Tom McCreery have signed Pittsburgh contracts.

It is time for ball-players to begin to get in condition for 1930.

Ed McKean wants to manage a Cleveland team in some organization.

Billy Hamilton is enjoying himself this winter behind his new pacer, Vassar, (2:37).

The Indianapolis club has signed Pitcher John Doerflinger, a son of the veteran umpire.

Phil Peterson, the president of the new Baltimore club, is a finger ale manufacturer.

Fred Clarke has taken the first degree of Pittsburgh citizenship, and can smoke a toby without a grimace.

Jot Goar has given up hope of having his arm round into pitching form again, and will play no more base ball.

Uniform scoring will always remain a Utopian dream, but the question will be regularly as spring cleaning time.

Chauncey Fisher, the St. Paul pitcher, is an expert roller player, and he is now a member of a team in Richmond, Ind.

Uniform rules for scoring never will be a go until the newspapers take up the move, and make a set of rules for their own guidance.

Charley Docu denies that he is playing a star role in "The White Slave," and asserts that the Torreysons have no claim on him.

Joe Schrahl and Phil Ehret have both accepted "Minnesota" terms. Walter Wilnot slipped into Cincinnati and rounded them up.

The mogule find it hard to please. They were teetotally condemned for talking too much, and then roasted to a turn for not talking at all.

Elmer Smith, who has been working at the Damascus bronze works, in Allegheny, has quit, and will now devote his time to getting into condition.

Frank Bancroft has an option on the new grounds at New Orleans, for the Reds. New York advice is to the effect that Buck Ewing wants to take the Glants to the Crescent City.

Pitcher Newton has returned his contract to Manager Allen, of the Cincinnati team, unsigned. He is not satisfied with the amount offered him. His figure is $275 per month, or $1,650 for the season, and he declares he will not play for less.

Patsy Donovan is one of the best of the unplaced ball players. Donovan is an ideal man for a pennant winning team, as he can field, hit, hunt, run bases and play every trick known to the game, and is always in the pink of condition.

If Milwaukee has an American Association club it is expected that Tom Doyle will be a member of the team, as he is very popular in the Wisconsin city, and the claim is made that he has promised to join the rival league movement.

Clark Hanes, of the Daisies, held the high handicap score, 245, till Saturday night, when Whittum beat him out with 248 to his credit.

MACRUM MUM.

Arrived in New York Yesterday, but Refuses to Talk.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Charles E. Macrum, the former United States consul at Pretoria, who asked to be recalled at a time when affairs in the republic were at a crisis and when his presence at the Transvaal republic was urgently required by the state department, arrived here to-day on the American line steamship St. Paul. With him were his wife and little daughter. Mr. Macrum has maintained silence as to his reasons for wishing to leave his station, and though repeatedly asked to make public his reasons for so doing, he has refused. His silence is still unbroken, though Mr. Macrum says that to-morrow after his arrival in Washington and visit to the state department, he will issue a statement over his signature telling why he left his post at such a critical time.

BRIDGEPORT HAPPENINGS.

Events of a Day in the Town at the End of the Bridge.

"A Fisherman's Luck," which is to be produced at the opera house to-morrow evening by the young people of Benwood and South Wheeling, under the direction of the German Lutheran church, promises to be one of the very best plays produced at the local play house this season. It was produced twice in Benwood by the same cast very successfully. Mr. Charles Zulauf, the noted baritone soloist of Pittsburgh and the Mozart Singing Society of Wheeling will sing between the acts.

The lecture given at St. Anthony's church last evening by Rev. Father Weigand was very largely attended. Father Weigand recently returned from a four weeks' tour of Europe, and it goes without saying that his lecture on that subject was very interesting.

A dance will be given in the opera house this evening, under the direction of John Morrow. It will be the fifth of a series of Monday night dances, and promises to be very enjoyable.

Miss Lena Dent entertained a number of her friends Saturday evening, at an 8 o'clock dinner, at her home, at Brookside.

Quarterly conference will be held at the Third M. E. church next Sunday, at which the presiding elder will be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Furry arrived here last evening from Sharon, Pa., to spend a few days with relatives.

Miss Jessie Heiner went to Washington, Ohio, Saturday, to attend the funeral of Dr. J. O. Black.

Mrs. William Clark will entertain the Semirour club this evening, at her home, in Kirkwood.

Miss Mary Graham left Saturday for Chicago, to spend a couple of weeks with her parents.

THAT REST.

You can cough yourself into bronchitis, pneumonia, and consumption. Bandaging and bundling your throat will do no good. You must give your throat and lungs rest and allow the cough wounds to heal. There is nothing so bad for a cough as coughing. Stop it by using

Even the cough of early consumption is cured. And, later on, when the disease is firmly fixed, you can bring rest and comfort in every case. A 25 cent bottle will cure new coughs and colds; the 50 cent size is better for settled coughs of bronchitis and weak lungs; the one dollar size is more economical for chronic cases and consumption. It's the size you should keep on hand.

BELLAIRE HAPPENINGS.

Matters of Interest in the Metropolis of Belmont County.

Prosecuting Attorney Armstrong closed his first week with criminal business in court with the one just ended, and has reason to congratulate himself upon the outcome. The concluding case was that of the three men at Bridgeport, indicted for riot for assaulting the street car men who had bought tickets to leave after the recent strike. Hon. C. L. Weems defended them, and brought all of his ingenuity into play in their behalf, but in his usual quiet way the prosecutor brushed aside the bluster, and holding the evidence against two of them in full view of the jury succeeded in securing a verdict for assault and battery, all that could be hoped for.

The developments in local industries, the starting up of others that have been idle for years, the leasing of coal land all about this city, and the outright purchases, in some instances, all combine to impress Bellaire people that the idea they have had for years that a better day was coming is dawning in a practical way now. There will be more building done in this city this year than for several years past, and it is not coming too soon. More houses are needed right now, and more will be absolutely necessary in a very short time.

In the local contest for the offices to fill this spring, from mayor to councilmen, there is an element that seems to have shaped the ends for both parties so far, but there is a dread that even this apparent control of the primaries may not be the politic thing to do. By far the larger element of the city is not consulted in the shaping of these affairs, but when the primaries are finally fixed the people of Bellaire are likely to vote, and it may be discovered that "the best laid plans of mice and men gang aft agley."

Senator Frank B. Archer spent Sunday with his family here, returning to Columbus this morning. The final report of his committee on the Interim appointments is held up, on account of the Nippert Cincinnati ripper bill, and may not be made this week. The senator is discreetly quiet about these matters, and talks but little concerning the situation.

The local option bill, providing for prohibition by wards and precincts, now before the legislature, will come up in the house on Wednesday. As usual with such measures, it attempts too much, and its fate is in doubt.

The Golden Eagles made a great success of their fair last week, and they were assisted by other societies very materially. The full amount realized is not known, but it is a handsome sum.

Rev. L. W. Fisher returned from Indianapolis last week and filled his pulpit in the Christian church yesterday.
